

2013 KAFCS Annual Meeting February 20–21 DoubleTree Suites Lexington

Winter Issue 2013

Wednesday, February 20

Dr. Michael Goodin

Associate Professor
University of Kentucky College of Agriculture
Department of Plant Pathology

A Change is Gonna Come!

Dr. Goodin will present a lively and thought-provoking session addressing choices related to genetically modified food as the world population continues to grow and the land to grow food declines.

Preconference

Peggy Gray, King Arthur Flour, will present a preconference workshop that replicates the school programs that she can present. Peggy is looking for three schools, grades 4 to 7, to conduct programs while in Central Kentucky. If you know a teacher who would like to participate in the Life Skills Bread Baking Program, contact Elizabeth Creed at (859) 873-4601 or elizabeth.creed@uky.edu.

Roundtables

Still looking for people to share research, best practices and new information! If you would like to participate, please contact Pam Sigler at psigler@email.uky.edu.

Thursday, February 21

Embracing Change of Many Cultures

Panel including representatives from the Kentucky Refugee Ministries, University of Kentucky College of Agriculture Office for Diversity and community advocate.

Go Bold With Beef!

Kentucky Beef Council will present an update of what is new and bold with beef.

Dr. Ann Kingsolver

Director of the Appalachian Center and Appalachian Studies Program
University of Kentucky College of Arts and Sciences
Department of Anthropology

Working Together Across Generations for Appalachian Kentucky's Future

Dr. Kingsolver currently lives and farms in Nicholas County, her native home. She is the Director of the Appalachian Center and Appalachian Studies Program. Her most recent book is Tobacco Town Futures: Global Encounters in Rural Kentucky, which documents how Nicholas County residents have planned alternative futures for their community as the economic effect of textiles and tobacco wanes.

2013 AAFCS Leadership Academy

Elizabeth Creed
Woodford Co. FCS Agent

Allison Lewis
Spencer Co. FCS Agent

Laura Savage
Monroe Co. FCS Agent

Three members of KAFCS have been accepted into the 2013 American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences Leadership Academy. This is the first year for this program and only fifteen professionals were chosen to participate. The program will begin in June 2013 and will continue through June 2014. Throughout the program, participants will complete multiple webinars, attend national conferences, and participate in various leadership workshops. By participating in this academy, participants will gain knowledge and skills to enhance their leadership abilities. They will also be prepared to assume leadership roles not only in their professional areas but also within AAFCS. Academy participants will partner with other professionals through a mentorship designed to further enhance their leadership skills.

Congratulations to these outstanding FCS professionals for their selection.

Elizabeth Creed is currently the FCS Agent in Woodford County. Prior to beginning this position, she worked as the FCS Agent in Marion County from August 2008-May 2012. She has been an active member of AAFCS for four years and was a student unit member for two years at the University of Kentucky. She holds a B.S. in Family and Consumer Sciences from UK. Elizabeth currently serves as secretary of KAFCS.

Allison Lewis has been an active member of AAFCS for two years and was a student unit member for four years. She began her current position as FCS Extension agent in Spencer County in October 2006. Allison holds a B.S. in Family and Consumer Sciences from the University of Kentucky and a M.S. in Social Work from the University of Louisville.

Lara Savage came to Kentucky as the FCS agent in Monroe County in July 2009 after working with Cooperative Extension in Tennessee. She has been an active member of the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences for six years. She was a student member for three years at Tennessee Tech University where she earned a B.S. in Human Ecology. Lara recently completed her master's degree in Adult Education at Western Kentucky University.

Outcomes of Academy participation:

- Gain knowledge and skills which will facilitate the development of leadership skills;
- Become knowledgeable of AAFCS and leadership opportunities;
- Be prepared to assume leadership roles in AAFCS and other professional arenas;
- Develop a supporting network of colleagues which will link you with resources throughout your professional and volunteer experiences; and
- Partner with mentors to enable you to enhance your leadership abilities.
